

THE BOARD

The UCLA Ziman Center for Real Estate Board was established to further the strategic mission and ongoing qualitative growth of the Ziman Center. It serves as the Center's primary advisory body, providing expertise and counsel on critical issues. Members of the board have numerous opportunities to network professionally, interact with top real estate students and world-renowned faculty, and provide leadership to the community through the Center's outreach activities. They also have access to leading-edge real estate research conducted by the Ziman Center's affiliated faculty.

RESPONSIBILITIES

ATTENDING KEY EVENTS

- Board members attend closed-door, bi-annual board meetings.
- Board members participate in exclusive networking events with each other and with the industry's most influential professionals.
- Board members serve on committees, advancing any one of the Ziman Center's mandates.

INDUSTRY & COMMUNITY OUTREACH

- Advocate on behalf of the Ziman Center within the professional and policymaking communities, assisting with board member recruitment and retention, and securing financial and other resources.
- Board members may be invited to share their expertise with peers as speakers, panelists and moderators at Ziman Center conferences, symposia and community projects and events.

INTERFACE WITH STUDENTS

- Board members are frequently called upon to share knowledge with students in a variety of settings, including classroom guest lectures, distinguished speaker series presentations, and special events.
- The Ziman Center facilitates various methods for board members to interview, recruit and hire future leaders from UCLA Anderson School of Management, UCLA School of Law and other real estate-related disciplines.

INTERFACE WITH FACULTY

- Promote and facilitate the dissemination of thought leadership of the Ziman Center affiliated faculty, which includes research publications that serve as planning tools and industry resources.
- By arrangement, board members may invite members of the Ziman Center affiliated faculty to make presentations to their corporations.
